Walk the Talk 2025: Supporting Breast Cancer Awareness and Future Leaders: A Collaborative Event by YWCA Princeton, Breast Cancer Resource Center, UPS, and Millhill Child and Family Development

Trenton, NJ– Millhill Child and Family Development, The YWCA Princeton Breast Cancer Resource Center, and UPS are proud to announce their collaboration on "Walk the Talk 2025," a charity event taking place on May 3, 2025.

This event honors the memory of Cathy Reed-McMiller, a dedicated employee of Millhill Child and Family Development for 35 years, who passed away from breast cancer. The event aims to raise awareness about breast cancer, provide support to those affected, and empower and educate youth, a cause close to Cathy's heart through her work with Millhill.

The event will begin at 10:00 am with a group stretch led by Carol A. Robinson, owner of Soularfit, followed by a walk from Millhill Child and Family Development to Cadwalader Park in Trenton, NJ. For those who do not wish to participate in the walk, the festivities at Cadwalader Park will begin at 11:00 am, featuring entertainment, food, and more.

In the spirit of his mother's legacy, Christopher McMiller, along with his wife Anita and UPS employees, have continued to support Millhill Child and Family Development through volunteer work. They visited the center to read to the 105 Pre-K students and participated in events for the PEERS program, a year-round leadership program that prepares Trenton high school students to advance to post-secondary education.

All proceeds from "Walk the Talk 2025" will benefit the Breast Cancer Resource Center of YWCA Princeton and Millhill Child and Family Development.
